DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

1. Claims 26, and 34-36 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph because the specification, while being enabling for a “a protocol adaptation apparatus” known to the inventor, does not reasonably provide an enablement for the “a protocol adaptation apparatus” recited in claim 26. The specification does not enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to the “a protocol adaptation apparatus” the invention commensurate with these claims.

As recited in claim 26, the single means “comprised only of hardware for converting and forwarding frames having a first protocol to frames having a second protocol” does not appear in combination with another recited element of means, is subjected to an undue breadth rejection under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph (2164.08(a)). In re Hyatt, 708 F.2d 712, 714-715, 218 USPQ 195, 197 (Fed. Cir. 1983).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Art Unit: 2665

2. Claims 35-36 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Regarding claim 35, it appears to Examiner that the “claimed protocol adaptation apparatus” converting one protocol to an ATM protocol locates at the ATM port 60-fig. 3, where a LAN/switch protocol is converted to an ATM protocol. It is unclear as to what is intended to be the claim limitation by reciting “the first protocol is a protocol selected from the group of ATM protocol and LAN protocol and the second protocol is a switch protocol”. The same remark applies to claim 36 for the claimed recitation “ the first protocol is a switch protocol and the second protocol is a protocol selected from the group of ATM protocol and LAN protocol”.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102(e) that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

4. The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) do not apply to the examination of this application as the application being examined was not (1) filed on or after November 29, 2000, or (2) voluntarily published under 35 U.S.C. 122(b). Therefore, this application is examined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

5. Claims 26, and 34-36 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Iidaka et al. (US 5,528,590), hereinafter referred as Iidaka.

Regarding claim 26, Iidaka discloses ATM-UNI-LAN communication method and apparatus.

a protocol adaptation apparatus (the adaptation apparatus 54-fig. 1, see col. 3-line 44 to col. 4-line 62) comprised only of hardware for converting and forwarding frames having a first protocol to frames having a second protocol, said conversion without requiring processor intervention (the apparatus 54-fig. 1 performs converting ATM cell protocol to Frame protocol and forwarding converted frame by the data transmitter 52-fig. 1 without a processor intervention).

Regarding claim 34, the apparatus 54-fig. 1 inherently includes a table for assisting the conversion and forwarding of frames.

Regarding claim 35, the switch 60 operates with an ATM protocol (second protocol), and the first protocol via the LAN I/F 50-fig. 1 is either LAN protocol or ATM protocol.

Regarding claim 36, the switch 60 operates with an ATM protocol (first protocol), and the second protocol via the LAN I/F 50-fig. 1 is either LAN protocol or ATM protocol.

Conclusion

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Verbesselt et al.(US 6,771,658); Katsube et al.(US 6,341,127); Allan et al. (US 5,946,313); Nogami et al. (US 6,781,994) are cited to show a method and apparatus for hardware forwarding of LANs frames over ATM networks, which is considered pertinent to the claimed invention.
